SUMMARY

I'm a Full Stack Mobile App Developer with more than 3 years of experience, specializing in building high-quality, scalable, and user-friendly applications. My expertise lies in Flutter and Firebase that allowing me to create apps that run seamlessly across platforms.

I enjoy transforming ideas into functional and visually appealing solutions. From crafting smooth UI/UX designs to integrating powerful backends and APIs, I ensure that every project I work on is reliable, efficient, and engaging. Over the years, I've developed and deployed apps across industries such as healthcare, education, ride-sharing, and e-commerce, helping clients bring their visions to life.

My goal is to deliver apps that are not only technically sound but also intuitive and impactful. I believe in clean architecture, responsive design, and delivering products that users love to use.
